ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL

July 19, 2009

Dear Friends,

For some of you, this will be the first time you will have heard of the death of Deacon Joe Curtis. Joe died very suddenly and unexpectedly in the wee hours of last Tuesday morning. I had visited him late Sunday afternoon over at Exeter House and would never have guessed that his death was so near. He was looking forward to returning to his home at Faerland Terrace and, even more importantly, to his community here at St. James.

For personal reasons, Joe's family was very eager to have his funeral as soon as possible. It was celebrated this past Thursday afternoon. Many of you learned about it in time to attend but many others of you, unfortunately, did not. For that reason, I intend to offer the 10:00 Mass next Sunday, the feast of St. James, for the happy repose of his soul.

Joe Curtis joined our staff as minister with the homeless back in the late 1980's - just a year or so after I arrived at St. James. His name quickly became synonymous with the Cathedral's outreach to poor and homeless people in downtown Seattle. More importantly, his presence became a gift to countless people who call the streets of our city home. Joe was a founder of the Matt Talbot Center, he led Bible study sessions at the Downtown Emergency Service Center, for years he coordinated the parish's involvement in Operation Nightwatch, and he ran the clothing room at the Lazarus Day Center. Very fittingly, in 2003 he was honored by Operation Nightwatch as Hero of the Homeless.

And, of course, Joe served as Deacon and preached here at St. James. All those years he did what deacons are ordained to do: he helped awaken us to what it means to find the face of Christ in the least of our sisters and brothers. In so many ways, he was "in our midst as one who serves."

We will miss Joe but we will see him again when the mercy of God gathers us together gain in the joy of God's kingdom! Please pray for him as well as for his wife, Martha, and his daughters Ann and Mary and their families.

Father Michael G. Ryan

GLORIA

to the tune LAUDA ANIMA

Glory be to God in heaven,
Songs of joy and peace we bring;
Thankful hearts and voices raising,
To creation's Lord we sing:
Lord, we thank you, Lord, we bless you,
Glory be to God our king.

Lamb of God who on your shoulders
Bore the load of this world's sin;
Only Son of God the Father,
You have brought us peace within:
Lord, have mercy, Christ, have mercy,
Now your glorious reign begin.

You, O Son of God, are holy,
You we praise with one accord;
None in heav'n or earth is like you,
Only you are Christ the Lord,
With the Father, and the Spirit,
Ever worshiped and adored.

What's Involved:

Walk an average of 9 miles a day from August 1st through 15th. Prayer, food, and rest after each section. Overnight stays in local churches. The pilgrimage will end at the NW Detention Center in Tacoma on Saturday, August 15 with a prayer service. Information: Patty Bowman at pbowman@stjames-cathedral.org

Fixing the Immigration System

TARGETED: resources should be focused to more easily identify and apprehend those who are dangerous, while ensuring that the basic rights of all immigrants are not abridged.

PROPORTIONAL: enforcement of laws should not feature unnecessary penalties or unnecessary force; or drive migrants into more remote regions of the desert, risking their lives. State and local law enforcement should not be authorized to enforce immigration laws.

HUMANE: the human rights and dignity of the person should be preserved and respected to the greatest extent possible. Families should not be divided and should receive special consideration. Undocumented immigrants should not be detained for lengthy periods of time or intermingled with violent offenders.

By allowing undocumented immigrants an opportunity to become legal, they are free to “come out of the shadows” allowing law enforcement to focus on those who might be motivated to harm us. By creating legal avenues for migration through a worker program and family immigration reform, our government can better track those who enter our nation at the same time it reduces the incentive for undocumented immigration. Providing legal status to undocumented immigrants is an effective way to contribute to our nation's security.
