GLORIA to the tune LAUDA ANIMA

Glory be to God in heaven,
Songs of joy and peace we bring;
Thankful hearts and voices raising,
To creation's Lord we sing:
Lord, we thank you, Lord, we bless you,
Glory be to God our king.

Lamb of God who on your shoulders
Bore the load of this world's sin;
Only Son of God the Father,
You have brought us peace within:
Lord, have mercy, Christ, have mercy,
Now your glorious reign begin.

You, O Son of God, are holy,
You we praise with one accord;
None in heav'n or earth is like you,
Only you are Christ the Lord,
With the Father, and the Spirit,
Ever worshiped and adored. (Text by Edwin LeGrice)

Let nothing ever grieve thee, nor fret thee;

LET YOUR PRESENCE BE A PRESENT TO SOMEONE

IN NEED During times of personal crisis, in addition to practical services, people often need the caring presence of a compassionate person willing to listen. The Solanus Casey Center, a program of St. James Cathedral and Catholic Community Services, seeks to provide that listening ear, as well as referrals and limited assistance, to those in need in our community. The Center is currently in need of a few kind volunteers who can help one day a week from 12:45pm-4:15pm. Training is available. Information, Jennifer Ibach, 206-654-4640 or jibach@stjames-cathedral.org.

Wills & Estate Planning Seminar

St. James Cathedral, Pastoral Outreach Center

Thursday, November 5, 2009 at 2:00pm & 7:00pm

Did you know that an estimated 60% of adult Americans do not have a valid will? Many think that only wealthy people need an estate plan. But this simply isn't true! Even those with no dependents need an estate plan if they have any property at all and want to decide who receives it. A will can cut delays and probate costs, waive expenses, and help reduce taxes.

The Cathedral parish will provide a free seminar on Wills and Estate Planning on Thursday, November 5 from 2:00pm until 4:00pm, and again from 7:00pm until 9:00pm. JoAnne Strom, Archdiocesan Director of Planned Giving, and Celeste McDonell, Cathedral parishioner and estate planning attorney, will offer their broad knowledge and expertise. You'll have a chance to ask questions and get good advice on what to do next. The whole session is short, simple, and to the point!

All are welcome. This session will benefit people of all ages and is offered with no strings attached. Please sign up by detaching the form below and dropping it in the offering basket or returning it to the parish office. For more information, contact Maria Laughlin, Director of Stewardship and Development, 206-382-4284.

This is a FREE, no-strings-attached presentation which includes

- An attorney, available to answer your questions
- Assurance that "putting your affairs in order" is easier than you think!
- Information on distributing your estate
- Methods of increasing your retirement income
- Information on how to prepare your will
- Information on guardianship issues
- Estate gifting techniques and information on tax advantages

Euthanasia & Assisted Suicide

OCTOBER IS RESPECT LIFE MONTH | No. 5 of 5

October 25, 2009

October is Respect Life Month! Each week during the month of October, a page in the bulletin will explore different aspects of Church teaching on the full spectrum of life issues: abortion, war, the death penalty, and euthanasia. This week, we look at the Church's teaching on euthanasia and assisted suicide.

What does the Church say about euthanasia and assisted suicide?

Intentional euthanasia, sometimes called mercy killing, is murder. Regardless of the motives or means, euthanasia consists of putting to death those who are sick, are disabled, or are dying. It is morally unacceptable. The emergence of physician-assisted suicide, popularized by the right-to-die movement, seeks to legalize what is an immoral act.... Suicide is gravely sinful whether committed alone or aided by a doctor.

The United States Catholic Catechism for Adults, p. 394

Questions and Answers

Q: Why shouldn't assisted suicide be legalized?

A: To sanction the taking of innocent human life is to contradict a primary purpose of law in an ordered society. A law or court decision allowing assisted suicide would demean the lives of vulnerable patients and expose them to exploitation by those who feel they are better off dead. Such a policy would corrupt the medical profession, whose ethical code calls on physicians to serve life and never to kill. The voiceless or marginalized in our society—the poor, the frail elderly, racial minorities, millions of people who lack health insurance—would be the first to feel pressure to die.

Q: What about competent, terminally ill people who say they really want assisted suicide?

A: Suicidal wishes among the terminally ill are no less due to treatable depression than the same wishes among the able-bodied. When their pain, depression and other problems are addressed, there is generally no more talk of suicide. If we respond to a death wish in one group of people with counseling and suicide prevention, and respond to the same wish in another group by offering them lethal drugs, we have made our own tragic choice as a society that some people's lives are objectively not worth protecting.

Hans Gottfried von Stockhausen, 1994

U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, 1998

Reflection

The passage of life itself suggests a constantly recurring pattern of movement from order to chaos, from chaos to order, again and again. Birth, adolescence, and old age are all passages that are filled with anguish. Finally there is the ultimate corruption and disorder that death brings.

Change of one sort or another is the essence of life, so there will always be the loneliness and insecurity that comes with change. When we refuse to accept that loneliness and insecurity are part of life, when we refuse to accept that they are the price of change, we close the door on many possibilities for ourselves; our lives become lessened, we are less than fully human. Life evolves; change is constant. When we try to prevent the forward movement of life, we may succeed for a while but, inevitably, there is an explosion; the groundswell of life's constant movement, constant change, is too great to resist.

Jean Vanier, Becoming Human

Prayer for the Grace to Age Well

When the signs of age begin to mark my body
(and still more when they touch my mind);
when the illness that is to diminish me or carry me off
strikes from without or is born within me;
when the painful moment comes in which I suddenly awaken to the fact that I am growing ill or growing old; and above all at that last moment
when I feel I am losing hold of myself and am absolutely passive within the hands of the great unknown forces that have formed me;
in all these dark moments, O God,
grant that I may understand that it is you (provided only my faith is strong enough)
who are painfully parting the fibers of my being in order to penetrate
to the very marrow of my substance
and bear me away within yourself.

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin SJ

Protecting our most vulnerable

The Seattle Housing Levy creates and preserves housing for our most vulnerable neighbors. Seniors, people with disabilities, domestic violence victims, veterans, formerly homeless individuals and families live in Housing Levy-funded apartments.

Helping working families

The Housing Levy helps hard-working families afford housing and still have enough money for the basics like groceries, gas and child care.

A proven success

Your investment in the Seattle Housing Levy has helped local families for 28 years. Renewing the seven-year levy would replace the expiring levy and cost the typical Seattle homeowner $65 per year.

Prop 1 will renew the Seattle Housing Levy

For 28 years, the Seattle voters have provided a critical housing safety net for thousands of our city's most vulnerable through the Housing Levy.

The Housing Levy will:

- ✓ Provide 1,850 affordable homes serving thousands of families and individuals over the next 50 years.
- ✓ Continue to help our most vulnerable neighbors including seniors, people with disabilities, victims of domestic violence and working families.
- ✓ Prevent homelessness for over 3,000 families and individuals, getting them back on their feet for the long term.
- ✓ Build on a successful investment that creates over 4,000 jobs and brings in additional funds to our community.
