ORDER OF CELEBRATION FOR The Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

ENTRANCE

For thy blest saints
ST. ANNE

1 For thy blest saints, a noble throng,
Who fell by fire and sword,
Or early died, or flourished long,
We praise thy Name, O Lord.

3 He stood with thee beside the dead;
He climbed the mount with thee,
And saw the glory round thy head,
One of the chosen three.

2 For James who left his father's side,
Not ling'ring by the sea;
He heard what could not be denied,
Thy summons, "Follow me."

4 He knelt beneath the olive shade,
He drank thy cup of pain;
And slain by Herod's flashing blade
He saw thy face again.

5 Lord, may we learn to drink the cup,
And meek and firm be found,
When thou shalt come to take us up
Where thine elect are crowned. (Text by Mrs. C. F. Alexander)

I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light,

through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,

The Way of St. James

James, James: beloved of God.

James, James: first of the apostles to share the cup of suffering and death of our Lord Jesus Christ.

James, James: martyred by Herod, taken to heaven. Thus the pilgrim-church was blessed and made to flourish.

Holy James: Martyr of Jerusalem, the first of the apostles chosen for glorious martyrdom.

Lord, Lord: curb our vain impatience.

Grant us grace for our own suffering so as to glorify your name as we follow the Way of James.

May we now wear the scallop-shell of quiet on our pilgrim path, holding the staff of steady faith all our days.

James, James: beloved of God, pray for us.

Is nonviolence just an ideal, or can it become a practical way to resist injustice? Fr. Marion Nguyen will present the Gospel basis for nonviolence, as well as explore applications of Gospel nonviolence to contemporary situations. Holy Things, Holy People

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 2: BISHOP BLANCHET'S OREGON TRAIL DIARY

26 JANUARY 2014

When we think of the Oregon Trail, we probably think of hardy farmers bound for the rich soil of the Willamette Valley. But not everyone on the Oregon Trail was headed to Oregon, and not all of them were farmers. There were bankers and entrepreneurs, trappers and guides, teachers and adventurers, even a Catholic bishop, and they settled in virtually every state west of Missouri, including what is now Washington State.

The Archives of the Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle treasures a small leatherbound book with hundreds of pages covered in small, neat script. Written entirely in French, this is the journal of our first Bishop, Augustin Magloire Alexandre Blanchet, who was named Bishop of Walla Walla in 1846 and journeyed to his new diocese by the Oregon Trail in 1847.

A. M. A. Blanchet was no longer a young man when he set off for his new diocese; he would celebrate his 50th birthday on the Trail. The journey began on March 23, 1847, the day after Palm Sunday. He did not journey alone. With him was Father Jean-Baptiste Brouillet, who had already been named Vicar General of the new diocese (in his diary Blanchet almost invariably refers to him with great formality as “the Rev. Brouillet, Vicar-General”). Two of Blanchet’s nieces came as well, along with two seminarians, and two laymen, carpenters, who would assist in the new mission. After celebrating solemn Vespers in the Cathedral, Blanchet bade farewell to his friends and went to bed: “the night is long,” he wrote, “because each one is thinking of a multitude of things which prevents sleep.”

The journey got off to a scary start. “Nothing occurred to disturb the pure joy which was in our hearts, until suddenly the coach is overturned on its right side and everything is upside down.” They were still in the suburbs of Montreal! The carriage was righted without any significant damage except for bruises to the Bishop’s shoulder.

From Montreal it took several weeks to reach Independence, Missouri, where Blanchet’s party would join their wagon train. The diary records his culture shock. “I have found the Americans polished and engaging,” he wrote on April 13, “but I cannot approve of their manner of raising their legs as high as their heads when they are sitting down and they always find something on which they can prop their feet. It is an epidemic malady. You can always recognize an American this way.” The Church was different here, too, the Bishop found. In Pittsburgh, he observed, “one can see that they are not accustomed to have ceremonies such as those in Canada.”

For Blanchet, it was difficult to adjust to life on the road, where nothing followed a pattern. He had to celebrate Mass when he could, and sometimes it was not possible to have Mass, even on Sunday. On May 9, he writes with good humor: “being unable to find a way to say Holy Mass, I eat and please my stomach which has been asking for mercy for quite some time.”

Sickness was a constant on the Trail. When the wagon train passed through the great prairies, the pioneers were able to eat fresh meat for the first time in many weeks, which resulted in rampant indigestion. At Chimney Rock, Bishop Blanchet sadly wrote, “everyone has diarrhea, but no one has it worse than I.” The animals were often sick, too, which caused delays. And there were constant dangers of other kinds as well: even going down a hill could result in injuries to animals and humans and damage to the wagons.

Thousands of people died on the Oregon Trail. On June 16, Father Brouillet was summoned to a six-year old girl who was dying. By the time he reached her, the child was dead. The girl had never been baptized, and Bishop Blanchet sadly told her father he could do nothing for her—the Church did not allow priests to provide burial to those who died without baptism, even children, until the Second Vatican Council. He recorded in his diary that the girl’s own father “buried her on the right side of the road near the campsite with a headboard on which was carved her name Sara.” After that devastating experience, Father Brouillet went to all the families in the wagon train urging them to have their children baptized. He and Bishop Blanchet baptized eight people on the Trail.

The party arrived at their destination, Fort Walla Walla, on September 5, 1847, more than five months after leaving Montreal. There would be little time to rest. Walla Walla, they would soon discover, was a tinderbox, where tensions between the whites and the Native peoples would very soon explode into violence.

Wills & Estate Planning Seminar

St. James Cathedral, Pastoral Outreach Center

Wednesday, February 19 at 3:00pm & 7:00pm

Did you know that an estimated 65% of Americans do not have a will? Many think that only wealthy people need an estate plan. But this simply isn't true! Even those with no dependents need an estate plan if they have any property and want to decide who receives it. A will can cut delays and probate costs, waive expenses, and help reduce taxes.

The Cathedral parish will provide a free seminar on Wills and Estate Planning on Wednesday, February 19 from 3:00pm until 4:30pm, and again from 7:00pm until 8:30pm. Celeste McDonell, Cathedral parishioner and estate planning attorney, and the Planned Giving Office of the Archdiocese of Seattle will offer their broad knowledge and expertise. You'll have a chance to ask questions and get good advice on what to do next. The whole session is short, simple, and to the point! You'll also receive useful materials to take home and study.

All are welcome. This session will benefit people of all ages and is offered with no strings attached. Please sign up by detaching the form below and dropping it in the offering basket or returning it to the parish office. Or simply RSVP to Maria Laughlin, Director of Stewardship and Development, 206-382-4284.

This is a FREE, no-strings-attached presentation which includes

- Assurance that "putting your affairs in order" is easier than you may think
- Information on how to prepare your will
- Information on distributing your estate
- Information on guardianship issues
- Estate gifting techniques and more information on tax advantages
- Methods of increasing your retirement income
- An attorney available to answer your questions

GOSPEL NONVIOLENCE AND THE CALL TO COMMUNITY

To respond to violence with love demands not only courage, but purity of intention and strength of soul....

In our world, turning the other cheek, walking another mile, and praying for our persecutors is often overlooked or even criticized. Why? Because it resembles passivism, because we are told it is not practical, because it seems the best defense is a strong offense.

Father Marion will address some of these assumptions and objections, propose a deeper probing of the Gospel responses to violence, and invite us to respond and to brainstorm alternate responses to modern day scenarios. Fr. Marion will also invite us to attend a Lecture of Dr. Ken Butigan on February 8th at St. Martin's University.

Advance registration is encouraged, but not required.

Parish-wide Volunteer Opportunities

Great Music for Great Cathedrals (February 28 & March 1)

January and February, 2014

For over two Great decades, Great Music has provided a Great way to get to know other Great parishioners! Volunteer an hour, a morning, a day, a week or a whole bunch of time. Great Music couldn't happen if it wasn't for hundreds of Great volunteers who generously give their time. Every year we look forward to new Great volunteers joining our ranks, learning, having fun, and enjoying the fellowship of a dedicated group of parishioners and community folk. Great Music requires that we have a lot of Great volunteers doing a lot of different things.

COSTUMES/VESTMENTS - Volunteers help with producing, creating, and repairing the garments worn by performers - sewing, taping, ironing, or even just safety-pinning.

LIGHTING - Volunteers needed for light, moderate to heavy lifting, running cords, aiming lights and testing to make sure all of the lights work when they are needed. No training necessary.

PROPS - Production of props in the weeks before the program and then managing during performances. Mostly "handy-man" related - painting, tying knots, hanging banners, and making banner poles are just a few examples.

STAGE CREW - Must be able to attend all performances and rehearsals Tuesday through Saturday, after work until 10:30 pm. Stage Crew will move sets and props around in between and sometimes during performances.

Also STAGE CREW SUPPORT - Similar to above, but for folks who are unable to commit to all performances and rehearsals.

HOSPITALITY - Hospitality folks provide food and drink one night (or more!) for around 25 people. Simple, quick hand-held meals are the norm here. In the past we've had pizza, little sandwiches and wraps, small salads, etc.

OFFICE - Beginning February 1, we need volunteers to supply us with full-time phone coverage for the Music Office. Give information over the phone, take messages, and help us sell Reserved Passes for the concert.

VISUAL ARTISTS - From 20 foot tall puppets of St. James the Greater to majestic angel kites that float above the heads of the congregation; from bronze scallop shell medallions to stunning re-creations of historic crowns - we love to recognize and put to use your special and unique visual art talents. If you are an accomplished artist, and think you might have something to contribute please call Dr. Savage at the Music Office.

USHERING - Be the face of hospitality as people arrive and are seated for the concerts. You will also assist in selling passes at the door, and directing people within and around the Cathedral building.

For more information call the Music Office at 206-382-4874
or email musicoffice@stjames-cathedral.org

The Rainbow Schools

An opportunity for St. James Cathedral children to attend a Catholic school
St. Edward ♦ St. George ♦ St. Joseph ♦ St. Paul ♦ St. Therese

St. James Cathedral Parish is a contributing member of the Rainbow Schools Coalition, a program whereby several parishes without schools contribute to the support of the five Catholic Elementary Schools in the central area of the city. Our participation not only makes it possible for Catholic education to continue in this area, it also allows children from our parish to attend one of the schools at "parishioner" tuition rates.

The Cathedral parish contributes upwards of $300,000 annually to the Rainbow Schools. Approximately 60 of our children are presently enrolled in one or another of these fine schools. Last year, fifteen of these children received financial assistance from the Cathedral's scholarship program.

ST. GEORGE PARISH SCHOOL is a Catholic school for students in pre-school through eighth grade, and since 1921 St. George has been providing excellent education to families in and around the Beacon Hill neighborhood of Seattle, Washington.

The first teachers at Saint George were the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Since 1978, a primarily lay faculty and staff have operated the school, overseen by the pastor of St. George Parish. Saint George Parish shares a pastor, personnel, some fundraising events and other resources with St. Edward's and St. Paul's. St. George has more than 240 students who reflect the rich ethnic diversity of the Beacon Hill neighborhood.
