

ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL

August 24, 2014

Dear Friends,

I know you will want to join me in welcoming to our pastoral team, Tom Frasene, who will be working with Patty Bowman in our social outreach and advocacy ministries as well as with our young adult ministry.

Tom is stepping into the shoes of Caitlin Lanigan who left us a couple of months ago to coordinate young adult ministry for the Archdiocese.

Tom comes with some wonderful and impressive experience in ministry that date back to his student days at the University of Washington's Newman Center. After graduating, he joined the Jesuit Volunteer Corps and worked for a year as a teacher and tutor at a community school in Newark, New Jersey. Following that, he joined the staff of the Urban Rest Stop in downtown Seattle where his passion for service and advocacy benefited hundreds of homeless people for whom he helped find shelter, food, clothing, and other basic human and social services. This past year, Tom spent a year in Anchorage working for the Center for Disease Control and Prevention of the State of Alaska. An impressive list of involvements and accomplishments in a very short period of time!

I feel blessed to have Tom join our pastoral team and I know you will enjoy meeting him and working with him in the days to come. Welcome, Tom Frasene!

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 14: CHINOOK AND YAKAMA GRAMMARS PUBLISHED IN MONTREAL

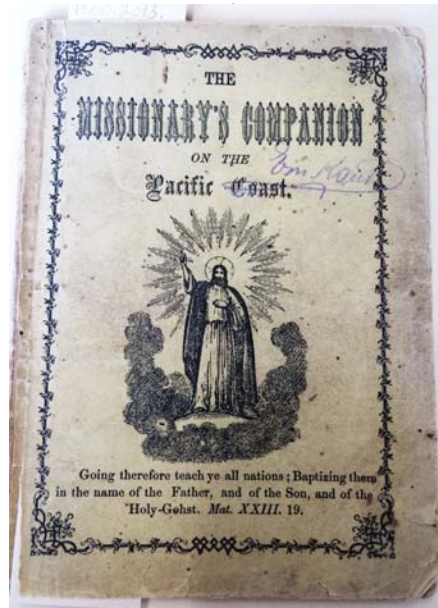

24 AUGUST 2014

The early history of the Archdiocese of Seattle is written not in English, nor in Latin, but in French. In a very real way, the foundations for the Church in the Northwest, from Alaska to Portland, were laid by a man who never set foot in the region: Ignace Bourget, the second Bishop of Montreal.

Bishop Bourget exerted an enormous influence on the Church—and everything else—in French Canada. Born in Lévis, Quebec, in 1799, he was ordained at 23 and was appointed coadjutor Bishop of Montreal at the early age of 37. He became Bishop in his own right in 1840, reigning until 1876, and exerting an extraordinary influence on both sacred and secular matters throughout the province of Quebec. In his politics, Bourget was an ultramontanist, a staunch defender of the rights and authority of the Pope. This tendency got him into hot water with the civil authorities and ultimately with Rome as well. “Believe me,” he wrote to Bishop A. M. A. Blanchet, “the bishop’s thorns here are longer and sharper than those in Oregon.”

In his spirituality, Bourget was an apostle. Under his leadership, the Diocese of Montreal became an evangelizing diocese, providing priests and bishops for the West, including F. N. Blanchet of Portland and our own A. M. A. Blanchet, as well as Modeste Demers of Vancouver. It was Bourget who brought to the Americas missionary communities from France, like the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. He also established new religious communities—he is honored as a co-founder of both the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary and the Sisters of Providence, religious communities which began serving the poor of Montreal, but which, within a few years, became missionary communities, sending sisters all over the west.

For decades, the bishops, priests, and women religious in the Diocese of Nesqually were almost exclusively French Canadian, a direct result of Bourget’s missionary zeal. The Church in the Pacific Northwest depended heavily on French Canada not only for personnel, but for financial and spiritual support as well. “Your letter of April last... gave me great joy,” wrote Bishop Blanchet to Bourget in February, 1850. “You cannot imagine how such words of consolation, of wisdom & news—especially ecclesiastical news—gladden us, isolated as we are from cultivated people for months at a time. We always wait impatiently for the Montreal Express.” Blanchet’s Vicar-General, Father Brouillet, made his account book for the early missions do double-duty as a scrapbook—careful pages of accounting alternate with clippings from the Montreal papers relating the words and deeds of Bourget and Pope Pius IX!

This close connection with French Canada is especially in evidence in two rare booklets treasured in the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle. The Missionary's Companion on the Pacific Coast, a grammar and prayer-book in the Chinook Jargon originally written by Modeste Demers in 1838 and 1839, was published in Montreal in 1871. The following year, the Alphabet Yakama was published by the Sisters of Providence in Montreal. Secular grammars naturally focused on the language of trade and work and were not of much use to the missionary priests and sisters. These booklets are intended to allow the missionaries to share the Catholic faith with native peoples as quickly as possible. They include translations of prayers—the Creed, the Our Father, and the Hail Mary—of rites, especially the rite of Baptism—as well as hymns sung in new languages to familiar tunes like “Adeste fideles.” There are also many texts set to long-forgotten French tunes like “Loin de Jésus que j’aime” which must have been dear to the hearts of the French Canadian missionaries.

These fascinating little booklets—small and thin enough to fit easily in a missionary’s breast pocket—give us a vivid glimpse of the work of the early missionaries. They also show us that the headquarters of missionary work in the Pacific Northwest was not Rome, but Montreal.

WINTER SHELTER

"Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or see you thirsty and give you drink? When did we welcome you or clothe you?" The King will answer them: "I assure you, as often as you did it for the least of my brothers and sisters, you did it for me." Matthew 25:37-40

The 2014 One Night Count found 3,123 people sleeping outdoors on the streets of King County. St. James Cathedral partners with St. Martin de Porres Shelter to provide overflow sleeping space during the cold winter months. St. Martin de Porres, a program of Catholic Community Services, has room for 212 homeless men. From October through April, Friday night through Monday night, St. James provides a warm and safe place to sleep in Cathedral Hall for 10-14 men.

Nearly 100 parishioners are needed to volunteer at the Winter Shelter, now in its 23rd year. Please consider joining our shelter team as an overnight host, breakfast cook, toiletries donation sorter, or substitute host.

GoodNewsPeople

Faith, Hope, and Love in Action

GoodNewsPeople is a dynamic parish-wide program that offers a way to explore the call of the New Evangelization. Through an engaging small-group process of prayer, reflection, and action, GoodNewsPeople explores and deepens our call to discipleship. Each session includes prayer, reflection on Sacred Scripture, inspiring stories of “good news people,” focus on a virtue of the week, and woven through it all, opportunities for sharing in dialogue.

Meet other parishioners and experience a greater sense of purpose and belonging. Groups will be meeting at a variety of times and locations.

GoodNewsPeople includes:

- ✓ 14 small group sessions with 2 seasons of 7 sessions each
 - First season of sessions run from early October through mid-November, 2014
 - Second season of sessions run from early February through mid-March, 2015
- ✓ 2-hour long sessions
- ✓ Parish-wide program Kick-off and Closing Celebration
- ✓ Immersion Experience and follow-up

Goals of the Program:

1. To engage participants in their Catholic FAITH as they share in prayer, reading of Sacred Scripture, spiritual practices, and dialogue;
2. To communicate HOPE as participants explore the possibilities that a faithful commitment to the gospel call to be “good news to the poor” can bring; and
3. To open hearts to a greater LOVE by encountering the biblical witness of Jesus in the Gospels and that of everyday people who have chosen the path of love as they respond to Luke 4:18-19.

Deeper Faith + Love in Action = GoodNewsPeople

Online registration opens Sunday, August 24!

Keep an eye on the bulletin for details.

MINISTRIES FAIR

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 2014 after the morning Masses in Cathedral Hall

God has created me
to do Him some definite service.
He has committed some work to me
which He has not committed to another.
I have my mission.
I am a link in a chain,
a bond of connection between persons.
He has not created me for naught.
I shall do good; I shall do His work.
—Blessed John Henry Newman

On Sunday, September 21, we have our annual MINISTRIES FAIR after each of our morning Masses. This is our chance to explore the many different opportunities for service at St. James Cathedral. It's also a time to celebrate the rich and varied ministries of our Cathedral parish. More than 1,000 people volunteer in 40+ different ministries at St. James each year. Come celebrate the ministries that make St. James the great parish it is and find out how you can become a part of it!
