WELCOME! If you are a visitor to the Cathedral, we want you to know how welcome you are – whether you have come from another part of the country, from across the world, or simply from another parish here in the Archdiocese. Thanks, in part, to the generosity of visitors like you, we are able to celebrate the Church's liturgy here in a fitting and beautiful way. We are also able to offer a wide range of services to needy people living in the central district of our city.

COVER ART The Fifteenth Station of the Cross shows the Resurrection of the Lord. This work, by Joan Brand-Landkamer, Cathedral iconographer, was inspired by the work of Georges Rouault and created from driftwood pieces the artist collected on the beach in Ocean Shores.

FLOWERS AT THE ALTAR are given in honor of Father David Brant on the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood from Jason, Bethie, Charlotte, and Peter Hungerford. Ad multos annos!

CELEBRATING WITH FATHER DAVID BRANT This Sunday, we will recognize Father David Brant in a special way at the Noon Mass as he marks the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. A reception will follow in Cathedral Hall.

RCIA REUNION Calling all former RCIA participants! Are you someone who has come through the RCIA process at St. James? Please join us for a social time to check in and catch up. We will gather on Tuesday evening, May 19, 7:00pm. If you can attend, RSVP to Kathleen McCabe at kmccabe@stjames-cathedral.org or 206-382-2018.

TUESDAY EVENING NIGHTWATCH VOLUNTEER St. James Cathedral has a long history of sending volunteers to Operation Nightwatch (14th Ave & Main St) to help feed people experiencing homelessness. There is currently a volunteer needed on the first Tuesday of the month, 8:30pm-10:30pm, to serve a meal to 100+ guests. If you are interested, please contact Tom Frasene (tfrasene@stjames-cathedral.org, 206-382-4235).

THANK YOU FROM THE ST VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY We visited an elderly woman who was homeless until recently. Since getting a small apartment, she has been careful to pay her rent on time as keeping her home is the most important thing to her. Fighting back tears, she told us she paid all her bills in cash, which she kept in her purse—which she left on the bus one day, a purse that never made it to Metro's "lost & found." Without that cash, she could not pay rent and got an eviction notice. With money you donated to SVdP at the Cathedral, we helped pay her rent and keep a roof over her head—thank you! Information, Barb Schmidt, 206-938-8696.

PARISH REMEMBRANCE Throughout the year, because we are the Cathedral Church, we remember in prayer at Mass and Vespers each of the parishes and missions of the Archdiocese of Seattle on a Sunday near their feast day. This week we remember in prayer the parishes of Christ Our Hope in Seattle, St. Rita in Tacoma, and Sacred Heart in Battleground and Enumclaw.

Buy Shares of Stock in the Mission Trip! Youth will be available to sell $15 shares of stock after select Masses throughout May. Please consider becoming a stockholder at one of the following levels:

- Supporter in Mission – One Share – $15
Dividend: You will be prayed for by name during our trip!
- Partner in Mission – Two Shares – $30
Dividend: Receive e-mail communication from youth in the field!
- Stakeholder in Mission – Three Shares – $45
Dividend: You will be invited to our stakeholder's dinner to hear stories about the mission you funded!

Anyone who chooses to buy four shares of stock or more will additionally receive a handmade Nicaraguan craft acquired during the trip.

Please become part of this mission trip alongside our parish youth!

About the Trip:

Our youth ministry participants are partnering with NPH, a system of orphanage homes, to engage in a unique mission devoted to closeness, mutuality, and kinship with the poor.

Pope Francis told us, "We have much to learn from the poor." Our team of 26 youth and adult leaders desire to do exactly that.

Rather than focusing on "doing" something in Nicaragua, we will instead "be with" Nicaraguan orphans, allowing them to become our teachers, calling us to conversion.

In this way, we develop understanding and friendship with those who would otherwise be marginalized. We become a Church for and with the poor.

NPH USA transforms the lives of orphaned and abandoned children in Latin America and the Caribbean by supporting the homes, healthcare and educational programs of Nuestros Pequeños Hermanos. (NPH)

On behalf of the all those who participated in Children's Faith Formation this year, we wish to thank all those who welcomed, loved and taught them.

From September to May, 55 volunteers, including 11 youth, shared their time and talent with 166 children. May God richly bless them and their efforts.

Holy Things, Holy People

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 24: FRAGMENT OF THE WHIDBEY ISLAND CROSS

17 MAY 2015

One of the most unusual objects in the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle is a shapeless block of wood, worn and worm-eaten. It is easily overlooked—but rich in history.

When F. N. Blanchet and Modeste Demers arrived in the Pacific Northwest in 1838, they found very few Catholics, and those few were spread over a vast area. Ministering to this scattered congregation was an enormous task, but they approached it methodically. After just a few weeks in the region, they split up: Blanchet left Demers in charge of the few Catholics they had found at Fort Vancouver, while he headed north to the Cowlitz Valley, where there were rumored to be four Catholic families. There he met Simon Plamondon, the famous French-Canadian pioneer. (Many years later, Blanchet's own niece would become Plamondon's third wife!)

Blanchet's first visit to Cowlitz was brief, but he returned in March of 1839, again staying at Plamondon's house. He began to preach a mission, with long sermons and catechism lessons, prayers, and plenty of singing. Blanchet was astonished when the mission he had intended for a handful of French-Catholic families began to grow, as delegations from many tribes came to hear the "robes noires," the Blackrobes, speak about God. One of these delegations had come more than 150 miles, from Whidbey Island, with their Chief, Tsla-lakum. They were exhausted and hungry, and their feet were bleeding after the long journey, but they were eager to listen to Blanchet's words. Blanchet wanted to seize the opportunity but was at a loss how to communicate with no common language except the Chinook jargon. He came up with a brilliant solution: the first Catholic Ladder (featured in the first essay in this series). The "Ladder" provided a simple, visual, and memorable way to preach the basic truths of the faith without complex language. He sent the ladder home with Tsla-lakum so the chief could himself share the Catholic faith with his people.

A year later, Blanchet visited Whidbey to see how Tsla-lakum and his people were getting on. He wrote in his diary: "I began the instruction by making the sign of the cross in Chinook jargon, and, to my great astonishment, all the assembly, men, women, and children, made the same, pronouncing the words exactly as practical and fervent Christians. I began to sing the first verse of a hymn in the Chinook jargon, and to my great wonder, all continued to sing

The Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle still treasures a fragment of the cross Father Francois Norbert Blanchet raised on Whidbey Island in the 1840s. F. N. Blanchet later became the first Archbishop of Portland and was the brother of our first Bishop, A. M. A. Blanchet.

it to the end, with exact precision. I admired the success Tsla-lakum had had in teaching the people; I blessed the Lord... and my joy was so great that I shed tears of gratitude."

The next day, May 31, 1840, he offered Mass at an outdoor altar, and other tribes joined in the celebration. After Mass, there was a great feast, and the sharing of the peace pipe. Then the native peoples raised a huge wooden cross—24 feet high—which was duly blessed by Father Blanchet. The people prayed and sang, and 122 children received what Blanchet called "the 'medicine' of Baptism."

For a time, Whidbey Island was known as "Cross Island" because of Blanchet's cross. When the missionaries made their occasional visits to the island, their reports would always include reference to the fact that the cross was still in its place. When Father Jean-Baptiste Bolduc visited in 1843, the people were so grateful for his presence that they built him a large house—a clear signal that they wished him to stay in their midst.

But that was not to be—in fact, Whidbey would not have a resident priest until 1933. The faith which had taken hold so strongly in the early days faded away, and when Father J. E. O'Brien arrived in 1933, he found only a handful of Catholics, and he learned about Blanchet's cross not from his Catholic parishioners, but from Ida Sill, a descendant of one of Whidbey's first white settlers. Mrs. Sill dreamed of raising a new cross at Whidbey, and preserving the original, which was fast deteriorating.

In August of 1939, her dream became a reality. Bishop Shaughnessy granted special permission for an outdoor Mass, and Father O'Brien offered Mass on almost the same spot where Blanchet had said the first Mass a century before. Tribes from all over the region came to witness the ceremony and to be part of the raising of the second cross as they had raised the first one. Sadly, the native peoples had to travel long distances—no descendants of the original tribes were living on the island by that time. A fragment of the original cross now survives in the Archives, a reminder of the first mission at Whidbey Island.

A STILL AND QUIET CONSCIENCE

A LIFE OF RAYMOND G. HUNTHAUSEN

Monday, June 15, 2015

7:00 pm, Cathedral Hall

803 Terry Avenue, Seattle

A Presentation by Seattle author John McCoy from A Still and Quiet Conscience, a new biography of Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen, followed by Q&A and Book Signing

Archbishop Raymond G. Hunthausen, archbishop of Seattle from 1975-1991, was the quintessential “Vatican II bishop.” Embracing the spirit of renewal, he was famous for reaching out to the laity, women, and those on the margins. A courageous witness for peace, he earned national attention when he became the first American bishop to urge tax resistance as a protest against preparations for nuclear war. In doing so, he ran against the Cold War policies of the Reagan Administration. But he also came into conflict with desires in the Vatican to reshape the American episcopacy. This biography not only recounts a critical turning point for the American Catholic church; it rekindles the vision of a more inclusive, prophetic, and compassionate church as the “people of God.”—Orbis

JOHN MCCOY first followed this story as a reporter for the Seattle P-I. A reporter, editor, and journalism professor, he has headed the communications departments of the Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle and World Vision International. Currently, he teaches writing at the University of Washington, Tacoma.

This special event is co-sponsored by St. James Cathedral and Maryknoll, Seattle.
