The Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time
August 16, 2015

ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL

August 16, 2015

Dear Friends,

You will notice this weekend that both the outer and inner doors at the Terry and Marion and the Archbishop Murphy Courtyard entrances to the Cathedral have now been fitted with electrified door openers for the benefit of the physically challenged. This happy and long-awaited improvement is only the first of several phases of our Place of Light, Place of Welcome project to which many of you have made generous contributions during the past year.

You probably remember from an article in In Your Midst, that the major focus of the Place of Light, Place of Welcome project will be the dramatic lighting of the exterior of the Cathedral which will allow the Cathedral to reclaim its prominence and beauty on the city skyline and also make the Cathedral grounds much safer at night. Other aspects of the project involve the retrofitting of many of the electrical fixtures inside the Cathedral, allowing the use of LED bulbs that, over time, will be both energy efficient and much more cost effective than the present ones. Lastly, new signage, more friendly for both parishioners and visitors alike, will soon be installed around the campus.

The actual construction involved with the exterior lighting of the Cathedral will, as you might expect, be quite extensive and time-consuming. The height of the towers alone would make it so, but when you add to that the mysteries of a building that is nearly 110 years old now, you can begin to see the ramifications--and unexpected surprises--of a major project of this sort.

When we launched the fundraising for the project this time last year, we did our best, with the help of the best experts available, to estimate the costs involved which seemed quite manageable ($1 million). For that reason we took a very low-key approach to the fundraising. Now it is clear that our estimate of $1 million was quite conservative, to say the least. And so, in light of considerable cost-overruns, we are now seeking to raise an additional $175,000. If you would like to make a contribution to Place of Light, Place of Welcome, it will be most welcome. A one-time gift would be appreciated or, if you prefer, the gift can be made over a three-year period. You'll find more information in today's bulletin.

The good news about all this is that the newly-lit Cathedral will glow in a way that it never has. And I like the thought that as we, in communion with Pope Francis and the Church throughout the world, launch the Holy Year of Mercy on this coming December 8, St. James Cathedral will shine out as a beacon not only of light but of mercy for our city and our region!

PART 29: BLUEPRINT FOR THE CATHEDRAL'S MOTHER CABRINI

16 AUGUST 2015

In 1950, when Bishop Connolly set about modernizing the Cathedral, he knew he wanted to fill the three niches on the front of the Cathedral with images of saints. He chose St. James, of course, St. John Vianney, and St. Frances Xavier Cabrini, Seattle's own saint, who had been canonized just four years earlier.

Mother Francesca Saviero Cabrini, the redoubtable founder of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, was born in Lombardy in 1850, but she spent her life all over the world: Rome, New York, Nicaragua, Buenos Aires, Panama, Chicago, Denver, New Orleans, Seattle. Mother Cabrini's motto was "I can do all things through him who strengthens me" (Phil. 4:13) and she lived by that creed. "Let us work for God, let us tire and sacrifice ourselves for His love," she wrote to one of her communities, "and when we feel we can do no more, let us say: My Jesus, all for Thee, and let us continue to work and tire ourselves. We shall have Eternity during which to rest."

Mother Cabrini first arrived in Seattle in 1903. "Here we are not far from the North Pole," she wrote in a letter home. She loved the young city: "The city is charmingly situated, and is growing so rapidly that it will become another New York; its port is open to the steamers that sail to and from Alaska. The town of Seattle spreads over twenty hills; and though it is fifty degrees north latitude, it enjoys an interminable spring because of the current that comes from Japan."

Mother Cabrini found a rich field for her mission work in Seattle, where thousands of Italians had settled in the Rainier Valley. "In the valleys surrounding the hills where we are, there are about 5,000 Italians, who follow us like baby chicks with a brooding hen. We hope we shall be able to do them some good. Although they have been neglected, they have not lost their traditional faith. They love the Madonna." She established a firm friendship with Bishop O'Dea: "The bishop is very good. His name is O'Dea and he is happy to have us in his diocese because we bear the name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus."

With Bishop O'Dea's strong support, Mother Cabrini established Sacred Heart Orphanage on Beacon Hill, which soon grew into Mount Carmel Mission, a center for ministry to Italians, with regular Masses and confessions, a workshop, and a school.

After a few months, Mother Cabrini entrusted the new foundation to her Sisters and continued on to her next challenge. At one point the overburdened Sister in charge of the Seattle mission made the mistake of complaining to Mother Cabrini, who sent back this advice: "In the morning, rise at five o'clock sharp... work like a young sister.... do not complain that it is too much or you will never be blessed by the Holy Spirit."

Mount Carmel Mission on Beacon Hill did not last long. By 1910, plans for the regrade of 12th Avenue meant the site of the orphanage would be sluiced away, and the Sisters asked Mother Cabrini to come back and help them find a new property.

The Seattle community could have found a new site themselves, of course. But they knew Mother Cabrini had a positive genius for acquiring property. She combined boundless faith and simple piety with shrewd business acumen. Upon her return to Seattle, she looked at a map of the city and sent two of the Sisters to look in the Laurelhurst neighborhood. Though the Sisters were doubtful about finding anything in that part of town, they did Mother's bidding and returned full of enthusiasm: "We have seen heaven on earth!" Only then did Mother Cabrini tell them she had seen the site in a dream. Soon a brand-new school, Sacred Heart Villa, rose on the site (it is now known as Villa Academy).

It was at this "heaven on earth" that one of the miracles for Mother Cabrini's canonization took place, just over a decade later. In 1925, a 34-year old sister named Delfina Grazioli became seriously ill. She was unable to eat, barely able to move. As she later wrote: "Finally one night, I couldn't sleep and I looked up and Mother was standing there. She shook her finger at me, just like she always did, and said: 'I'm going to send you to work.' Then she smiled and disappeared." Sister Delfina was cured. She did go back to work—for another forty years!

Not all of Mother Cabrini's property negotiations went as smoothly as the purchase of the site for Sacred Heart Villa. Her biggest Seattle project—Columbus Hospital—would strain her friendly relationship with Bishop O'Dea, as we will see in our next issue.

PLACE OF LIGHT, PLACE OF WELCOME

A CAPITAL CAMPAIGN FOR ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL

Place of Light, Place of Welcome is all about making the Cathedral the beacon it once was (when it dominated the city's First Hill!) and it's also about making it an even more welcoming place than it already is.

We are working with a gifted local lighting designer to create dramatic, innovative, and energy-efficient exterior lighting that will let the Cathedral shine and make it as beautiful and welcoming by night as it is by day. It will also considerably enhance its safety by night.

In addition to exterior lighting, we are also taking the necessary—and costly—steps to upgrade the Cathedral's now-obsolete interior lighting, as well as to provide updated accessibility to the Cathedral, the Chapel, and the Rectory building for persons of limited mobility.

When we launched the fundraising for the project this time last year, we did our best, with the help of the best experts available, to estimate the costs involved and set a campaign goal of $1 million. Now it is clear that our original estimate was quite conservative, to say the least. And so, in light of considerable cost-overruns, we are now seeking to raise an additional $175,000.

You are invited to consider making a gift if you have not already done so. Pledges may be paid at once or over a period of three years. Read more about the campaign at www.stjames-cathedral.org. Information, Maria Laughlin, 206-382-4284 or mlaughlin@stjames-cathedral.org.

Welcome Back

Faith is not a light which scatters all our darkness, but a lamp which guides our steps in the night and suffices for the journey.

Have you drifted away from your Catholic faith? Are you disillusioned by what you hear about your Church? Do you desire a life filled with faith?

St. James Cathedral offers "Welcome Back," a 12-week parish program for Catholics out of touch with a Church that once may have been home. It's a safe place to ask questions, learn about changes in the Church, and begin to experience a small community of faith. If you desire, we'll help you return to the sacraments, and move towards becoming an active part of the faith community.

The fall program begins Monday, September 21, and continues Mondays through early December. Sessions are held 7:00 – 9:00 pm in Cathedral Place, 803 Terry Avenue.

COME AND SEE!

..... a one-hour time set aside for you to come and ask questions about the Cathedral "Welcome Back" program. Rosanne and team will be present to answer questions, listen to your needs, and help in whatever way we can. Sunday, August 16 or Sunday, September 13, following the 10:00am Mass! Meet in Cathedral Place, 803 Terry Ave

For more information, without any obligation, contact Rosanne Michaels at 206.654.4658 or rmichaels@stjames-cathedral.org.
