DISMISSAL OF THE CATECHUMENS AND CANDIDATES (10:00)

CREED

I believe in one God, the Father almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all things visible and invisible.

I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God,
begotten, not made,
consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,

[ALL BOW]

and by the Holy Spirit
was incarnate of the Virgin Mary,
and became man.

[ALL STAND UPRIGHT]

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,
and rose again on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory
to judge the living and the dead
and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,

who with the Father and the Son
is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy,
catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins
and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

PART 32: MAP OF THE NEW ARCHDIOCESE OF SEATTLE

1 NOVEMBER 2015

A commonplace map of Washington State, mounted on cardboard, with some scrawled markings on it in thick blue pencil, has been preserved for decades in the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle. But this is no ordinary map. The markings were made by Archbishop Thomas Connolly, and they date from the time when Seattle was elevated from a diocese to an archdiocese.

The boundaries of our diocese have changed many times in the 165 years since its creation. From 1853 to 1868, Bishop Blanchet was responsible not only for all of what is now Washington State, but parts of Idaho and Montana as well, as far east as Missoula. In 1868, the territory was reduced to the boundaries of Washington Territory. In 1913, the boundaries changed again with the creation of the Diocese of Spokane, which split the state roughly in two. Each of these changes reflected the Church's response to the growing population in the area, as resources were reallocated and leadership bolstered to ensure the most effective preaching of the Gospel in the region.

In the years following World War II, Washington State boomed. Between 1940 and 1950, the population increased from 1.2 to nearly 2.4 million. This population growth was not only in the major centers, but in the rural areas, especially in central Washington. The completion of Grand Coulee Dam in 1942 created about one million acres of new farmland. Soon migrant workers from Mexico were pouring into the region, almost all of them Catholic. Bishop Connolly of Seattle and Bishop White of Spokane struggled to respond to their needs.

In September, 1950, the celebration of the Centennial of the Diocese in a newly-reddecorated St. James Cathedral brought 32 bishops to Seattle, along with the Apostolic Delegate, Archbishop Amleto Cicognani. It was on this occasion that the idea for a new diocese first surfaced. The creation of a new diocese in the Yakima Valley would ensure better spiritual care for the population there, and would allow Seattle and Spokane to focus on their own booming centers. At the same time, elevating Seattle to an Archdiocese would reflect the growing importance of the city as commercial and industrial center. It would also acknowledge the vigor of the local Church, even though the Catholic population was not large compared with other Archdioceses. During Cicognani's visit to Seattle, he and Connolly talked about the possibilities, marking proposed boundaries for the new diocese on a map, scribbling things out, drawing things in.

It took several months, but Pope Pius XII saw things

On this map of Washington State, the boundaries of the new diocese of Yakima were marked in Archbishop Connolly's characteristic soft blue pencil. Courtesy of the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle.

Connolly's way. On June 23, 1951 (the date scrawled in pencil at the top of the map of Washington State) the Pope issued a decree creating the new diocese of Yakima and appointing Connolly's right-hand man, Msgr. Joseph Dougherty, its first bishop. With the same decree, he elevated Seattle to an Archdiocese, with Connolly as the first Archbishop of Seattle.

On July 18, the changes were formally announced. They made for big news in Seattle. Archbishop Connolly was interviewed by KJR Radio, at the time Seattle's most popular radio station. A recording of the interview survives in the Archives, so it is possible to hear the deep and mellow voice of our first Archbishop commenting on the news and graciously receiving the congratulations of the radio announcer. "The response has been quite enthusiastic and very friendly," he told KJR's listeners, and observed that it was "very interesting to note the interest of our non-Catholic friends." He added that he expected many of his brother bishops to attend the formal ceremony in September, since "I have expatiated at length on the glories and the beauties of our evergreen playground."

Connolly was right—29 bishops, 20 monsignori, and more than 300 priests attended the ceremonies at St. James Cathedral on September 26, in which Connolly received the pallium, the sign of his new rank, and Msgr. Dougherty was consecrated the first bishop of Yakima. According to the Progress, the ceremonies were "thrillingly-perfect," "imposing," and "brilliant with beauty and the light of faith."

Father Thomas Mulligan, SS, formerly the president of St. Edward's Seminary, gave the sermon. His discourse on the role of the bishop could not have been altogether encouraging to the newly-consecrated Bishop Dougherty. "For the love of his flock, the Bishop undertakes a multitude of onerous and unattractive tasks. The government of his diocese involves a great amount of planning, directing, developing, financing, in a complicated work of administration that is never fully done. It involves many heart-breaking responsibilities, and—alas—the shepherd may sometimes be forced to ask hard things of his priests and people, even though in loving them more, he be loved less."

The grand ceremonies closed with the singing of the National Anthem: the elevation of Seattle to an Archdiocese was not only an ecclesiastical moment, but a civic one. And it all began with a few pencil markings on a map!

Annual Report

St. James Cathedral Parish 2014-2015

Dear Friends,

Each year at this time, we publish an report on the financial condition of the parish. As you decide what your commitment to the parish will be in the coming year, I hope that the information contained in this report will help inform your decision. The report details not only the dollars and cents, but also some of the activities and ministries made possible by your support.

DOLLARS AND CENTS

Our fiscal year runs from July 1 through June 30. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 2015, our total parish income was $4,068,777.

This came from:

- Sunday and holy day collections (61%)
- Annual Catholic Appeal rebate (4%)
- Various gifts, grants, bequests, fundraisers (29%)
- Business income (including rental of parking spaces and reception rooms, Cathedral Bookstore income, etc.) (6%)

Total expenses for the year were $4,371,106.

They included:

- Salaries, benefits and other personnel-related expenses such as security (58%)
- Our parish's assessment by the Archdiocese (5%)
- Our annual assessment to support five central area Catholic schools (7%)
- Various operating costs for the maintenance and improvement of the Cathedral, other parish buildings, and the grounds (30%)

This left us with a deficit in 2014-2015 of $302,329, which is actually $38,000 less than what we projected going into the year, as you may remember from last year's report. While we were able to pay all our bills by drawing on our very modest savings, this ongoing deficit is a matter of serious concern to me and to our Finance Council, and I'm sure it is a concern to you as well. We are anticipating a similar deficit in 2015-2016, as you will see from the budget to the right. Our expenses continue to increase, including insurance premiums, utilities, assessments, and salaries and benefits for staff people, while our income has tended to remain steady.

As you might imagine, the only solution to the deficit will be to increase income, or to make cuts to staffing and expenses. The Finance Council and I are actively considering both alternatives.

OUR LIFE AS A PARISH, 2014-2015

We are vibrant, diverse, and growing parish with 2,396 registered households, comprising 5,088 individual members. Our parishioners come from across Western Washington, from more than 180 ZIP codes. Well over 1,000 volunteers are involved in more than forty different parish ministries.

2015-2016 Projected Income and Expense

Sunday & Holy Day Collections	2,703,000
Bequests (anticipated)	164,500
Gifts and Annual Appeal Rebate	898,330
Business income (bookstore, fundraisers, etc.)	344,300
Projected Total Income	$ 4,110,130
Staff salaries & benefits	(2,592,430)
Supplies (including postage & printing)	(375,128)
Operations & Maintenance	(149,500)
Contracted Services (includes insurance premiums, service contracts, & contract musicians)	(288,609)
Business Expenses (including bookstore & fundraising expense, mortgage payments)	(296,481)
Utilities, vehicles	(189,520)
Archdiocesan assessment	(226,464)
Rainbow Schools assessment	(352,789)
Projected Total Expense	$ (4,470,921)
Projected Deficit 2015-2016	$ (368,816)

During the past fiscal year, more than 1,100 Sunday and regular daily liturgies were celebrated, not counting special liturgies for Holy Days, the Sacred Triduum, and ecumenical and interfaith services. Sixty-five young children and 11 adults were baptized; 10 people baptized in other Christian traditions made a Profession of Faith and were received into the Full Communion of the Catholic Church. Around 20 adults are currently enrolled in our RCIA program, preparing for the Sacraments of Initiation in the Catholic Church. Eighteen confirmations were celebrated; 19 children received their First Communion. During the year 62 weddings and 27 funerals were celebrated.

LITURGY AND MUSIC

As the Cathedral Church, we are privileged to host special events which gather Catholics from across Western Washington, including Rites of Election, the Chrism Mass, Ordinations to the Priesthood, Madre de las Americas and Simbang Gabi. The Cathedral also hosted Baccalaureate Masses for Holy Names Academy, O'Dea High School, Seattle Preparatory School, and Seattle University.

Over the course of the year, there were numerous concerts, recitals and other musical events held in the Cathedral, the highlight of which was our Gala New Year's Eve Concert, when we marked the retirement of Dr. James Savage after thirty-three years as Director of Music at St. James Cathedral. In addition, the Schola Cantorum Choir Camp in August brought thirty children to the Cathedral for a week of prayer, service, and singing.

OUTREACH AND PASTORAL CARE

The Cathedral Kitchen has continued to thrive, with between 150-170 people of all ages and races sharing a hot, nutritious meal, lovingly prepared and served in the Cathedral Hall each weeknight—around 40,000 meals a year!

The Solanus Casey Center, our drop-in and referral center, is open three days a week and continues to help hundreds of people each year to secure their Washington State IDs and to access the many services available in our local community.

The St. James Immigrant Assistance program provided some 5,118 volunteer hours and served 320 people. The St. James Winter Shelter provided overnight shelter to 10 to 15 men for 120 nights. Thousands of sandwiches were prepared by our parishioners and distributed through St. Martin de Porres Shelter and Operation Nightwatch.

Our outreach programs to the elderly transported seniors to Mass each Sunday and conducted monthly “senior trips.” Many homebound parishioners receive communion in their homes each week, allowing them to remain connected to the liturgical life of St. James.

FAITH FORMATION OPPORTUNITIES

More than 160 of our Cathedral children participated in Sunday School classes, offered September through June. Special events and presentations for adults in 2014-2015 included “Good News People,” a small group experience exploring scripture and service. About 60 parishioners participated in these small groups.

Our Youth Ministry program has been a whirlwind of new and exciting opportunities for youth, including retreats, service activities, and social events. A highlight this past summer was a remarkable mission trip to Nicaragua. The same is true of our ministry for Young Adults, with a Cathedral softball team, a remarkably well attended Theology on Tap series, and various social and service events throughout the year.

ALL THIS WAS MADE POSSIBLE BY YOUR GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS. None of these efforts could have been undertaken without the generous support of our parishioners and friends. We want you to know that there has been careful stewardship of the financial resources of the parish. We look forward to accomplishing even more with your support and with the help of God's grace in the coming year.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Father Michael G. Ryan
Pastor

Requiem Mass on All Souls Day

Monday, November 2, 2015 | 7:30pm

It is a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead that they might be absolved from their sin. (2 Maccabees 12:45-46)

Father Michael G. Ryan will preside at the solemn Mass of All Souls. During this Mass, we pray for all our beloved dead. In a special way, we remember those who have been buried from the Cathedral during the past year, as well as all our deceased parishioners and benefactors. The parish death registers, reaching back more than a century, as well as the parish book of remembrance in which parishioners have been recording names for the past several weeks, are carried in the entrance procession.

The music features Duruflé's sublime setting of the Requiem in its intended setting, the solemn Mass for the Dead, under the direction of Dr. Paul Thornock, with the Cathedral Choir, Cathedral Chamber Orchestra, and Cathedral Organist Joseph Adam.

North Korean Refugees

The North Korean people are facing one of the greatest challenges in the world today. Come hear the story of North Korean refugees – their 3,000 mile escape route, resettlement, empowerment, and how they are trying to change the way the world sees North Korea so they get the help they need.

Sang Hoon never had a place to call his own in North Korea, often spending his nights in the homes of his friends and relatives. Sang Hoon had always been interested in other countries and hoped to work as a diplomat, but he was never able to follow his dream in North Korea. His desire to leave his home country grew day by day until he could take it no more and he found someone to help him escape. Once in China, he connected with the Liberty in North Korea network and made the journey to safety and freedom in South Korea. Now, Sang Hoon is one of the most passionate, ambitious people we have the privilege to work with. As soon as he resettled, he began taking classes to learn how to use the computer. Most people take one class at a time, but Sang Hoon doubled them up and was able to get four computer certificates in very little time. He also got a job at a research institute, and continues to learn more and strives to achieve his goals every day.
