ODE TO JOY

Fire of God, titanic Spirit, Burn within our hearts today;

And, through Jesus Christ who claims us, Purify us, make us whole.

Wind of God, dynamic Spirit, Breathe upon our hearts today;
That we may your power inherit Hear us, Spirit, as we pray:
Fill the vacuum that enslaves us— Emptiness of heart and soul;
And through Jesus Christ who saves us, Give us life and make us whole.

Voice of God, prophetic Spirit, Speak to ev'ry heart today
To encourage or prohibit, Urging action or delay.

chant, Veni Sancte Spiritus

Come, thou Holy Spirit, come!
 And from thy celestial home
 Shed a ray of light divine!
 Come, thou Father of the poor!
 Come, thou source of all our store!
 Come, within our bosoms shine!
 Thou, of comforters the best;
 Thou the soul's most welcome guest;
 Sweet refreshment here below;
 In our labor, rest most sweet;
 Grateful coolness in the heat;
 Solace in the midst of woe.
 O most blessed light divine,
 Shine within these hearts of thine,
 And our inmost being fill!

Where thou art not, we have naught,
 Nothing good in deed or thought,
 Nothing free from taint of ill.
 Heal our wounds, our strength renew;
 On our dryness pour thy dew;
 Wash the stains of guilt away:
 Bend the stubborn heart and will;
 Melt the frozen, warm the chill;
 Guide the steps that go astray.
 On the faithful, who adore
 And confess thee, evermore
 In thy sevenfold gift descend.
 Give them virtue's sure reward;
 Give them thy salvation, Lord;
 Give them joys that never end.
 Amen. Alleuia!

ANNUAL CATHOLIC APPEAL We have now met the $337,040 goal set for us by the Archbishop for this year's Annual Catholic Appeal. Every dollar donated at this point will come directly back to the parish in the form of a rebate. And we need the rebate, which will support our outreach ministries as well as our new ministry to Young Adults. Our goal for the rebate is $200,000. Holy Things, Holy People

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 10: PRINCESS ANGELINE'S ROSARY

8 JUNE 2014

On display at the Museum of History and Industry in South Lake Union is one of the treasures of the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle: a rosary belonging to Princess Angeline, and given to Seattle's pioneer priest, Father F. X. Prefontaine, after her death.

Princess Angeline, the oldest daughter of Si'ahl (Seattle), chief of the Duwamish people, was born in about 1820 and given the name Kikisoblu. Like her father, Kikisoblu became a Christian and remained in the Catholic Church until her death.

The coming of white settlers to Puget Sound brought rapid changes to the Duwamish people. Less than four years after the Denny party landed at Alki Point, the Treaty of Point Elliott was signed, establishing reservations and, in essence, making it illegal for Kikisoblu to live in the city named for her father.

But Kikisoblu did not leave Seattle. She stayed, and formed close friendships with some of Seattle's founders, especially Henry Yesler and "Doc" Maynard. In fact, it was Catherine Maynard, the second wife of Doc Maynard, who—finding her Lushootseed name too difficult to pronounce—gave her the name Angeline. She lived in a tumbledown little building on Front Street between Pike and Pine, roughly where the Pike Place Market is now, and took in laundry and made baskets for a living. With her tiny form wrapped in a worn shawl, a red bandana on her head, a cigarette in her mouth, and a rosary in her hand, she was an unmistakable figure on the streets of Seattle. Her language was often a lively mix of English and Lushootseed. She called Seattle "Hyas Tyee Papa Town"—great big Seattle town! A number of photographers paid her a dollar or two to take her picture, including Edward S. Curtis, who was inspired by the haunting beauty of the portrait to document native peoples all over the West.

Currently on display at the Museum of History and Industry is one of the treasures of the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle: the rosary of Princess Angeline, which was treasured by Father F. X. Prefontaine after her death. Courtesy of the Archives of the Archdiocese of Seattle. On the right: a photo of Angeline, reprinted in Annals of Old Angeline (http://www.sos.wa.gov/legacy/publications_detail.aspx?p=48).

When asked about her faith, Angeline would say, "I am a Catholic and I have a crucifix and a rosary." She would proudly show her crucifix to visitors, saying, "this is my friend." She became a fixture at Father Prefontaine's Church of Our Lady of Good Help, but she prayed everywhere. As the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary recorded in their house chronicles, "it was no infrequent sight to see this poor old Indian woman seated on the sidewalk devoutly reciting her beads."

Angeline's death on May 31, 1896, marked the end of an era, and all of Seattle came together to give her a funeral like no other. She was buried from Our Lady of Good Help, her parish, and, faithful to her request, her coffin was shaped like a canoe. In a contemporary poem called Annals of Old Angeline, Bertha Piper Venen wrote:

*All honors of the church did she receive,
And in its peace and pardon did believe;
And humbled, low, her spirit bent
In grace receiving solemn sacrament!...
Festooned in dark funeral pall,
Her church became reception hall;
Her friends were packed from wall to wall
And stillness reigned, while tapers tall
And many, burned their waxness through,
And shed soft glow on black canoe.*

After the funeral, Angeline's coffin was taken to Lakeview Cemetery, where she lies amid Seattle's pioneers, a few paces from the imposing monument of her friend Henry Yesler. Her grave is one of the most visited in the cemetery, and the coins and shells left by her monument testify to the fact that Seattle has not forgotten Princess Angeline.

ON FIRE FOR IMMIGRATION REFORM: A PENTECOST RESOURCE

God grant us the gift of Fear of the Lord so we as one community can hope in your abiding love.

Reflection: This Gift of the Spirit does not inspire anxiety or dread of God, but gives us an abiding consciousness of God's presence in us, thus confirming the theological virtue of hope. We pray that in our work for immigration reform we may not yield to pressures that try to deter us, but may learn from our immigrant brothers and sisters to live and act always with hope, believing that "if God is for us, who can be against?"

Educational resources: Reflect on the readings and homily of this Pentecost Sunday through the lens of our broken immigration system.

Action:

Call Speaker Boehner's office in Washington D.C. at 202-225-6205. Tell him that with him that we are placing our "hope" in his leadership. You can see a sample script below. If we fill up his voicemail, then send Speaker Boehner an email at <http://www.speaker.gov/Contact/>

*Sample Script: Speaker Boehner,
This Pentecost Sunday, I am praying for you and your colleagues in the House of Representatives that together you may be able to find solutions to fix our broken immigration system. Time is running out. I ask you do everything in your power to pass just and humane immigration reform that preserves family unity and offers a pathway to citizenship for undocumented immigrants.*

Suggested Action: In the spirit of the season, please call the office of your Member of Congress and remind her or him that, like the disciples in the story of Pentecost, our families came from different lands and that we are all children of God. Call this toll-free number, 1-855-589-5698, again on June 13th to be connected to the in-district office of your U.S. House Member and ask them once more to:

- ❖ Vote for immigration reform,
- ❖ Support a path to citizenship,
- ❖ Preserve family unity, and
- ❖ Employ safe and humane immigration enforcement practices.
