HOMILY

Father David A. Brant

CREED (except at 10:00am)

I believe in one God,
 the Father almighty,
 maker of heaven and earth,
 of all things visible and invisible.
 I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,

the Only Begotten Son of God,
 born of the Father before all ages.
 God from God, Light from Light,
 true God from true God,
 begotten, not made,
 consubstantial with the Father;
 through him all things were made.

For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,

[ALL BOW]

and by the Holy Spirit
was incarnate of the Virgin Mary,
and became man.

[ALL STAND UPRIGHT]

For our sake he was crucified
under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,
and rose again on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.

He will come again in glory
to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son
is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy,
catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism
for the forgiveness of sins
and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

ECUMENICAL ICON OF THE RESURRECTION This weekend, St. James Cathedral is privileged once again to host a beautiful icon of Christ's Resurrection. The icon, written by Yakov Prokofiev of St. Petersburg, was commissioned by the St. Petersburg Seattle Sister Churches Board to celebrate the 20th anniversary of their program, which encourages friendly relations between churches in Seattle and St. Petersburg. The icon was blessed by Metropolitan Vladimir and brought to Seattle in the summer of 2011. During this Easter Season, it is traveling around the Pacific Northwest to churches of many Christian denominations.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO JOIN OUR WELCOME BACK for Returning Catholics sessions, now in progress. This is a parish program designed to update you on the Catholic Church, and to learn more about your faith. It's a warm, welcoming place where you can bring questions about faith and church. This small group meets Monday evening, 7:00 – 9:00 pm, and will continue each Monday evening into June. Location is Cathedral Place, 803 Terry Ave. Information, Rosanne Michaels, rmichaels@stjames-cathedral.org, 206-654-4658.

Levertov was a great 20th-century American poet who lived in Seattle from 1989 until the time of her death in 1997. A convert to Catholicism, she wrote about faith, nature, the environment, politics, and social justice. Our speakers will be Seattle writer and teacher Rebecca Brown and Patty Bowman, Director of Outreach at St. James Cathedral. The event kicks off a city-wide series of events celebrating Levertov. Information, Patty Bowman, 206-382-4515 or e-mail pbowman@stjames-cathedral.org.

Holy Things, Holy People

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 22: LETTER FROM DOROTHY DAY

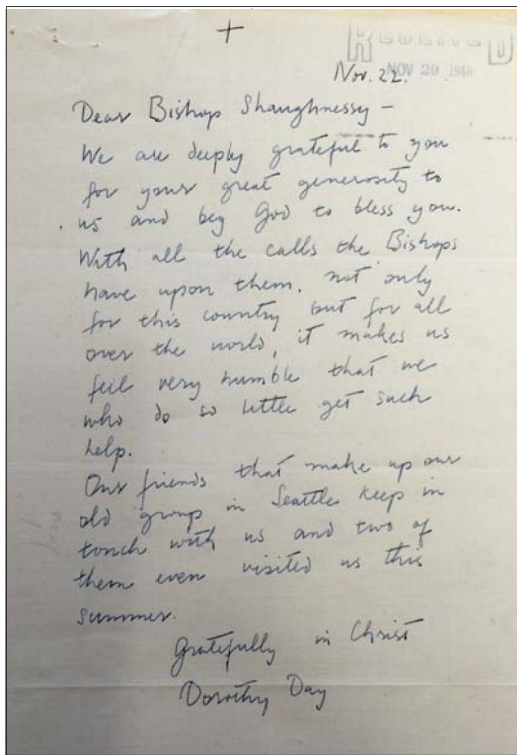

19 APRIL 2015

On May 1, 1933, the first issue of the Catholic Worker was distributed at a rally in New York's Union Square. By 1940, the newspaper—which sold and still sells for a penny a copy—had a national circulation of 125,000. Many of those copies found their way to the labor unions—and the Catholic parishes—of Seattle. Before long, Bishop Shaughnessy was receiving letters of complaint. “Wont you, dear Bishop,” wrote a Miss Levy, “do something about the matter before more souls are weaned away from the Church and her Priesthood by the insidious doctrine preached by word of mouth and in the pages of the CATHOLIC WORKER by Dorothy Day and Peter Maurin?”

With his usual thoroughness, Bishop Shaughnessy did look into the matter. And the more he looked, the more he found to approve in the Catholic Worker Movement. In February, 1940, Bishop Shaughnessy welcomed Dorothy Day to Seattle, and opened many doors for her: with his approval, she addressed students and faculty at Seattle College, St. Martin's College, the University of Washington Newman Club, and St. Edward's Seminary. She also addressed a general assembly of the Holy Names Sisters.

Bishop Shaughnessy also encouraged Day to explore what Seattle Catholics were already doing for the poor. She was impressed with the work of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, and described its local founder, Peter Empt, in an article for the Catholic Worker: he wore a “ten-gallon black hat and cowboy boots, a holster and revolver and makes his own bullets,” as well as being “a generous soul.”

Day also visited the Hooverville on the waterfront south of downtown, where 650 shanties had been set up, some perched precariously on pilings to keep them out of the water. Whole families lived in the Hooverville (one of six in Seattle), with children going off to school and returning home to these tumbledown shanties. “Christ is there,” Day later wrote of the visit, “there in the mud, in the shacks with His poor. With them he is trying to find a place to lay his head. With them he hungers and with them He suffers fatigue of body and soul.... Have pity on

Dear Bishop Shaughnessy -
We are deeply grateful to you for your great generosity to us and beg God to bless you. With all the calls the Bishops have upon them, not only for this country but for all over the world, it makes us feel very humble that we who do so little get such help. Our friends that make up our old group in Seattle keep in touch with us and two of them even visited us this summer.
Gratefully in Christ
Dorothy Day

them, and on us, who permit such things to be.”

During her visit, Day was in and out of the Cathedral and the Rectory almost every day, since her priest friend Father H. A. Reinhold—who had been instrumental in connecting her with Bishop Shaughnessy—was stationed at St. James.

Before she left Seattle, Day met with Bishop Shaughnessy again. He gave his support to her plan for a new House of Hospitality in Seattle. The house opened less than a month later, with an outpouring of support from all over the diocese. O'Dea High School students came and cleaned out the tumbledown duplex they had rented on King Street in the heart of the International District. A group of seminarians from St. Edward's prepared and planted a vegetable patch. Day's new friends from St. Vincent de Paul provided furnishings and other supplies. And the people of the Archdiocese supplied a steady stream of milk, food, clothing, and much more.

The St. Francis House of Hospitality opened on March 8. The first visitors, Day noted, were two Japanese men in search of jiu-jitsu lessons! But soon hundreds of people in need were finding their way to King Street. By May 8—after just two months in operation—St. Francis House had served 29,381 meals in addition to providing shelter to 22 men every night.

Bishop Shaughnessy remained a staunch supporter of the Catholic Worker Movement even after his debilitating stroke of 1945. On November 22, 1946, Dorothy Day wrote to him: “We are deeply grateful to you for your great generosity to us and beg God to bless you.... it makes us feel very humble that we who do so little get such help.”

Exploring the Metaphysical Poets

Tuesdays, April 14, April 21, May 5, May 12
7:00pm-8:30pm | Cathedral Place, Room 1EW

This series will explore the spirituality of six poets: GEORGE HERBERT, ROBERT SOUTHWELL, RICHARD CRASHAW, HENRY VAUGHAN, THOMAS TRAHERNE, and JOHN DONNE. Corinna Laughlin (Cathedral liturgy director and PhD in English Literature) will offer an overview of the poet and a close look at a few key poems, read by Cathedral reader Scott Webster. Whether you come to one session or the whole series, all are welcome!

April 14 | George Herbert (1593-1633)

George Herbert was a priest of the Anglican Church, an extraordinary pastor as well as poet. We will explore some of his short poems, including “Easter Wings,” “The Call,” and others. The perfect beginning to our series in the Church’s Easter season!

April 21 | Robert Southwell (1561-1595) and Richard Crashaw (1612-1649)

St. Robert Southwell was a Jesuit priest and martyr. Richard Crashaw was the son of a Puritan minister and a convert to Catholicism. Both wrote extraordinary religious verse with a distinctly Catholic sensibility.

May 5 | Henry Vaughan (1621-1695) and Thomas Traherne (1636-1674)

We explore extraordinary poems by two lesser known poets, both of whom were ordained ministers in the Anglican Church. Vaughan’s work anticipates Wordsworth in its celebration of the innocence of childhood. Traherne’s extraordinary imagination, anticipating William Blake, was largely unknown until the rediscovery of his work in the early 20th century.

May 12 | John Donne (1572-1631)

We end with one of the greatest of the English poets. Donne’s sacred verse is among the best known in the English language – we will explore “Batter my heart, three-personed God,” “Death, be not proud,” and other poems.

A booklet with the poems to be read and discussed will be available free in the Cathedral Bookstore and for download from the Cathedral website if you would like to prepare in advance.

Copies will be available at each session as well.
